The Trial of Jack Ruby, p. 142

"All he had to do was call to the stand the agent in charge of the Dallas office of the Secret Service, Forrest Sorrels. Sorrels was the person who asked the last question of Oswald before the attempted transfer...." According to Secret Service Inspector Kelley, it was Kelley who did the last questioning (R630) that this happened after Captain Fritz had terminated the interrogation, and that when he finished Oswald changed clothing and left with the police.